

Christian Education Awareness Network (CEANet)

Do you think Jesus cares about the education your children receive? Are your children learning a worldview with which you do not agree? What does the Bible communicate concerning the responsibility of teaching young Christian children? To find the answers to these questions and more, you may want to consider visiting the Christian Education Awareness Network (CEANet).

What is CEANet?

The Christian Education Awareness Network (CEANet) is a website which provides articles, essays, and other, related sources that demonstrate a need to restore education as a parental/Church ministry. CEANet also examines the significance of the origins debate with regard to the impact of worldviews which stem from humanist compared to divine revelation. Here is a short list of some of the areas under examination:

- Creation vs. Evolution
- Education (public, private, and homeschool)
- Separation of School and State
- Globalization Efforts
- Government (international, national, state, and local)
- Other Issues of Interest to Christians

CEANet is a Christian education advocacy website full of related essays, references, links, and recommended recourses to help shed light and bring more understanding to this important part of Christian living.
